ATHOL - The Athol-Royalston Regional School District is in danger of losing superintendent Steve Meyer.

Meyer recently submitted an application for the superintendent position at Clinton Public Schools and is a finalist for the position.

“My primary reason for applying for this opportunity is to be closer to my family,” said Meyer in an email.

While he has only been in the district for four years, Meyer has done a lot to better the schools. He has made the dual enrollment for possible for some students who couldn't attend before. He also added the alternative program for students who can't work in a normal classroom setting.

Meyer has also maintained a strong relationship with the teachers union during his tenure.

“If there was ever a problem we would solve it, we never had any problems together,” said union president Carl Seppala.

Athol High School counselor Kathy Colmenares noted Meyer's ability to connect with students.

“He was the type of guy where if you in trouble he would talk to you so you don't hate his guts,” said Colmenares

Many of the students who have met Meyer know how good he is at his job and he would be missed.
