Dear Seventh Grade Parents/Caregivers,

David King
Principal
Athol-Royalston
High School

Today I was informed of a seventh-grade student who has been diagnosed with COVID. The student was exposed outside of school. Contact tracing is in the process of contacting families of students who are close contact and quarantining them. Contact tracing has also reviewed the seventh-grade teachers exposure to this student, and three out of four of the seventh-grade teachers have been quarantined. One other teacher on the team has been quarantined due to activity outside of the school. Because of these circumstances the district does not have the personnel to cover the classes in-person. For this reason, the district has decided to have all students in the seventh grade, except for students on IEPS, work remotely from home.

I truly hope you understand. Remote Learning will be in effect for grade seven starting Tuesday, February 9, 2021, through winter vacation.
